Duke Health network changes [1]

November 2, 2020

Duke Health is enacting additional network security measures to help mitigate a targeted U.S. healthcare ransomware threat and protect our patients, staff and infrastructure. All devices connected to the Duke Health network will be prevented from accessing personal email and social media accounts. If you need to access personal email or social media, please disconnect from the Duke Health network and use alternative channels like cellular or secure home WiFi. Duke Health has posted and is updating a FAQ [2] to help users with ongoing questions.
